Reporting to Public Session Tuesday, June 13, 2016

1. Float Your Boat

On May 18th, sixteen teams from Burnaby's elementary schools assembled to participate in the district's inaugural cardboard boat race challenge. The event, hosted at Burnaby North and co-sponsored with Skills Canada BC, challenged students to design, build and race a boat made of cardboard, tape and a few other supplies across a 25 metre pool.

Teams from Aubrey, Brentwood Park, Capitol Hill, Lochdale Community, Lyndhurst, Parkcrest, Stoney Creek Community and Taylor Park elementary schools had two and a half hours in the morning to draft a design and construct the boat in preparation for races at Kensington Outdoor Pool.

This evening, Paul Arthur, Program Consultant, Career & Transition Programs, will present a short film of the event produced by Cole Pearson, a student from the Industry Connect Film & Broadcasting Program and introduce students from Aubrey and Brentwood Park Elementary schools who will speak about their experience, the process and the challenges they faced in the "What Floats Your Boat?" challenge.

2. Student Public Service Announcement Videos

This past fall the City of Burnaby's Public Safety Committee, comprised of the members from the Burnaby Board of Education, City staff, RCMP and citizen representatives, was interested in communicating with high school students on the importance of pedestrian safety. Burnaby South Secondary School's Video and TV Production students, working with teacher Vania Alexieva, took on the task.

Grade 11 and 12 students created Public Service Announcement (PSA) videos on cellphone, pedestrian and cycling safety. Each PSA was an individual term project for students, who also worked in teams as they wrote, filmed and acted in the videos, and edited the final versions for presentation to the committee.

Burnaby RCMP will be using the videos on their social media sites to get the word out to students – that cell phone, pedestrian and traffic safety is everyone's responsibility.

This evening, Sandi Lauzon, Vice-Principal, Burnaby South Secondary School, Vania Alexieva, teacher at Burnaby South Secondary School, along with students Irvin Alcira, Aditya Wibisono, Christian Ordanzo, Paul Gatz, and Shenis Macabenta will present samples of the videos they produced.

Recommendation: THAT the Board of Education receive this information.
